

Anne Menzel – Parent Governor

I joined the governing body at Kingsnorth in 2023 as a Parent Governor and sit on the Quality of Education committee, which focuses on the curriculum and the learning achievements of pupils. I was keen to take on this role as I'm passionate about ensuring every child has the best possible start in life, with the right support to help them thrive both academically and personally. I have a particular interest in special educational needs and want to play my part in making sure that all children, whatever their abilities, feel included and able to flourish.

Being a governor has given me the opportunity to support the school in a meaningful way, working alongside staff, parents and fellow governors to contribute to decision-making and champion the best interests of pupils. I value the chance to see the positive impact the school has on children's lives and to help ensure this continues for years to come.

Outside of my governor role, family life is very important to me. I enjoy spending quality time with my loved ones, whether that's days out at the zoo or the beach, or simply being together at home. I also have a love of creative hobbies, including gardening, baking, sewing, knitting and cross stitch – I find these not only relaxing but also rewarding, especially when I can share them with my family.

Kingsnorth felt like the right choice for my family because of its strong community spirit and caring ethos, and I feel proud to play a part in supporting the school as both a parent and governor.
