

Hello,

Next week is Children's Mental Health week so for the month of February, we will be offering hands-on work experience within our team on our new Wellbeing Mobile app for teenagers.

This fantastic opportunity is open to years 7 -13 and participants can choose one of the following roles:

1 - Design Consultant - responsible for reviewing the app and making design recommendations

2 - PR / Marketing Consultant - helping to promote the app in the press (including writing press releases and speaking to journalists)

3 - Product Tester - testing the app, logging bugs and helping the customer support team

This is an invaluable opportunity for students to:

- work with a tech business that is developing a fun, interactive app for teenagers
- work (remotely) alongside the EduKit team, who are led by a female tech entrepreneur
- understand and experience the different roles available in tech
- get involved in Children's Mental health week in a hands-on, creative way

All students who complete their work experience will be awarded an EduKit Certificate Of Achievement and can add the experience to their CV.

Notes:

- our CEO is an experienced youth mentor so this will be an enriching and motivational experience
- as such we would welcome students of ALL abilities and engagement levels
- roles are open to students working at home and in school
